The service will be available during the hours the libraries are open.
Ms. Tinker announced that a five-year grant totaling $12 million has been awarded by the National Science Foundation which will launch the North Cascades and Olympic Science Partnership, with the goal of advancing the teaching and learning of science throughout Northwest Washington.

Skagit Valley College is a participant in the North Cascades and Olympic Science Partnership, which consists of a total of 14 school districts in Whatcom and Skagit counties and 12 on the Olympic Peninsula; five higher education institutions; the Northwest and Olympic Educational Service Districts; and Washington State Leadership and Assistance for Science Education Reform.

Bellingham Technical College. Dr. Tollefson stated that they received excellent comments from the panel and that Ms. Koci did an outstanding job. He said that a year ago the regional economic plan was developed and that of all the presenters only Skagit Valley, Whatcom Community, and Bellingham Technical colleges presented as an economic region. Dr. Tollefson stated that he believes that was impressive and important to the panel.
